PRESIDENTS' MESSAGE

BY MARY MIX and MARCIA STEINHARDT
CO-PRESIDENTS

This holiday season is a wonderful time for sharing special times with friends and family. What better opportunity to plan a special day than by touring our five fabulous Holiday Home Tour homes all decked out in their finest. Then join us at our Holiday Party at the home of Carol and Dave Highton, 1933 Park Meadow Drive, Alamo, at 6:30 P.M. on December 11.

We have a very able Nominating Committee in place that will be selecting our 2011-2012 slate of officers. The committee includes Karen Abu-Handeh, Gail Clark, Kathie Hixon, Caroline Sanchez, and Kerry Montalvo. We are all very appreciative of the opportunities that AAUW has provided for us. As a member of this organization, we have a responsibility to give of our special talents to keep things running smoothly. Consider how you might contribute next year...it takes many capable individuals to run a branch with a membership this large. Please make our Nominating Committee's job easier by stepping forward to participate.

Mary Mix
Co-President

Thanks to our International Co-Chairs, Asha Bajaj and Gus Slavin, and our featured speaker Jo Harber-son, for their International Affairs meeting last month. We learned why Virginia Gildersleeve holds such an important place in women's history and why our branch has supported this fund in the past and is considering future support.

We wish you and your families peace and love this holiday season. ❖

Marcia Steinhardt
Co-President

HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE NEEDS YOUR HELP

Are you seeking a format to have a great time and enjoy new people who live nearby you? The Hospitality Committee stills needs neighborhood hosts for several areas. Hosting your neighborhood doesn't require a lot of time or effort, just an open heart willing to create an environment for members to come together, get to know one another as neighbors, and help new members become aware of all that AAUW has to offer. The following groups are still in need of a host:

Group 8- Daffodil- North/ West Alamo
Group 13- Hellebore- San Ramon/Dublin/Pleasanton
Group 20- Central Camino Tassajara area

Group 12- Dragonfly- South/ Central Danville
Group 17- Orchid- Diablo Area

Please contact Sharon Cohune if this sounds like something that you would be interested in doing at 648-5153 or sfcohune@comcast.net. ❖

PUBLIC POLICY

BY CYNTHIA SAVELL

PUBLIC POLICY

AAUW supports promoting science, technology, engineering and math education especially for girls and other underrepresented populations. These efforts will help increase America's competitiveness by reducing gender barriers that deter women from working toward academic and career goals in these fields. If U.S. universities are producing fewer male engineers, why not encourage female students to fill these important roles. After all, this country is in a race with other countries whose wish is to overtake American dominance in science and technology. Former Vice President Al Gore hosted a live interactive online town hall titled, "Math, Science and the Future of Our Nation," in November to motivate American students in math and science studies with the goal of succeeding in the global marketplace. Researchers at the University of Arizona have developed a new resource called 'CareerWise' to support women in the stem subjects. Gender is the biggest factor in completion of science and engineering doctorates, and nearly half of women consider dropping out or earning a lesser degree due to multiple forms of gender bias. Please click here to read AAUW's latest research report, entitled 'Why So Few?' President Obama's bipartisan deficit commission recently introduced its proposed plan to reduce the national deficit by more than $3.8 trillion over the next decade. Among the proposed changes, the commission recommended raising the Social Security early retirement age to 64 and standard age to 69, with a hardship exemption at 62, kicking in by 2075. Retirees currently receive early benefits at age 62. This plan has not been approved by the commission but the chairs hope to use it as a starting point for reaching agreement among at least 14 of the 18 members by early December. Members on both sides of the aisle have expressed concern with this plan, but it is the first of many discussions to come, bringing potential changes to Social Security Benefits. There will be more information in coming articles as we follow these developments. As stated in the 2009-2011 Public Policy Program, AAUW supports a Social Security system that provides inflation-protected, guaranteed lifetime benefits with a progressive benefit formula, spousal and widow benefits, and disability and survivor benefits. AAUW also believes any reductions to retirement benefits are detrimental for women. Women live longer and have fewer resources at the end of their careers than men on average. Cutting benefits would generally increase poverty and decrease purchasing power.

Congratulations to Branch member Joan Buchanan in her re-election victory over opponent Abram Wilson for the 15th district seat in the California Legislature. Incumbent U. S. Representative Jerry McNerney declared victory over his opponent David Harmer, but Harmer has refused to concede. The House of Representatives has experienced an expected changeover in party dominance, and new targets are emerging. In their haste to rescind the recently passed Health Care for All Americans bill, the new occupants should not forget it is their turn to help bring about more jobs for all Americans. There are more challenges to come as Congress examines additional ways to cut the deficit, like ending the tax deduction for mortgages, possible increases in gasoline rates, and elimination of other tax benefits. We are 14 trillion dollars in debt, which is about 44 thousand dollars for each person. And California budget worries are not over either. Our 35+ day-old budget is now 6.2 billion dollars in the red with no new ideas to address the problem.

What action will the new governor take to address the 25.4 and rising billion dollar budget for next year? New taxes and less spending are not enough. Many perks we have become used to will have to be eliminated because they cannot be sustained. Economists worry that our children and grandchildren will not enjoy economic benefits presently enjoyed by Californians and Americans in general. We will have to expect a huge increase in taxes no matter what, and more tax benefits will have to be sunsetted. ❖

DOLLY PARTON

A Remarkable Woman

by Caroline Sanchez

Chair, Women's History

In 1946 in a small hamlet in Tennessee, Dolly Parton was born to a family that would have 12 children. She made up tunes before she could write. Why would I write about her? A few years ago, I attended "Dolly Parton's Dixie Stampede" at Branson, Missouri. Entering the building, I was intrigued by posters about her child literacy program, Imagination Library.

Dolly was born "dirt poor" living in a one room cabin, but she had a creative imagination. At age nine she was writing songs and singing at a radio station. At thirteen she began recording songs and sang at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tennessee. The day after she graduated from high school, she headed for Nashville, and the rest is history.

Most of us know Dolly as a buxom, bleached blond country singer who wears tight clothes and bright makeup. She emulated a trashy persona to look like a "town tramp," which she honestly thought was beautiful when she was young. At twenty, she married Carl Thomas Dean, a very private person who is still her husband.

Between 1967 and 1976, she wrote popular songs such as, "Coat of Many Colors" and "I Will Always Love You." She played nine instruments, and during 1977 to 1986, branched out to pop music. With no children of her own, she raised many of her younger siblings, then nephews and nieces.

In 1980 Dolly wrote the song and acted in the movie "9 to 5," for which she received the Academy Award, "Best Original Song." She has worked in television and movies, written 3000 songs, and performed in sold out tours in the U.S. and Europe. She has sold 155 million records around the world.

Dolly is a good businesswoman too. In 1986 she became co-owner of Dollywood Theme Park in Tennessee and owner of "Dolly Parton's Dixie Stampede" dinner theater, bringing much needed revenue to her home state. Some of her many awards include being inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame in 1995 and the Songwriters Hall of Fame in 2001 and being ranked the "Wealthiest Country Music Star" by Nashville Businessmen in 1998. In 1986 she was named Ms. Magazine's Woman of the Year.

To improve education in Appalachia, Dolly began a literacy program in Sevier County, Tennessee, where she was born, called, "Dolly Parton's Imagination Library," which is part of her Dollywood Foundation. She mails one book per month to each enrolled child from the time of their birth until they enter kindergarten. This program has now been replicated in 566 counties across 36 states, as well as in Canada and England, and more than 2.5 million free books are distributed to children annually.

For her contributions, this petite dynamo has received the National Medal of Arts, the highest honor given by U.S. Government for Excellence in the Arts, presented by the U.S. President. In 2006, she received the Kennedy Center Honors Lifetime Contribution to the Arts award.

As an AAUW member, I commend her for her work in literacy. She has received various awards for this work, including from the Association of American Publishers in 2002, Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval in 2001, American Association of School Administrators in 2002, National State Teachers of the Year Award, and Parents and Teachers National Center Child and Family Advocacy in 2003.

In 2009, Dolly was awarded an honorary Doctorate of Humane and Musical Letters degree from the University of Tennessee. Chancellor Jimmy Cheek said she has a career not just as a musician and entertainer, but also as a cultural ambassador, philanthropist and lifelong advocate for education. ♦

This is a very popular exhibit and we will need to book our entry time in advance. I will try to book our group at 11:00 and the cost will be non-refundable after booking. We will lunch at the de Young after viewing the exhibit. We will car pool to the de Young and we need drivers. The exhibit ends January 18, 2011, and I am hoping it will be less crowded in mid-December.
